

Frequently Asked Questions: IABC Victoria Bronze Quill Awards

How does a Bronze Quill differ from a Gold Quill?

It is an additional award to recognise communications excellence at the local level, in Victoria, whereas a Gold Quill is an international award. You could think of a Bronze Quill as the gateway to Gold. Some regions also offer Silver Quills, which are regional awards.

How do I enter?

Your entry is automatic when you submit an entry for Gold Quill Awards. All entries which meet the standard and progress to 'blue ribbon' judging as part of the Gold Quill process are automatically eligible for a Bronze Quill!

So, when do I need to apply for a Gold Quill? What do I have to do?

The 2013 call for entries is now open. The first deadline (with an early bird payment discount) for Gold Quill entries is 31 January 2013. The final deadline for Gold Quill entries is 5 March 2013.

You can read more about the Quill awards and application process via the IABC website.

How will I know if I have won a Bronze Quill?

You will be informed of your win by the IABC Victoria Board and invited to attend an official ceremony to be presented with your Bronze Quill in 2013.
